

Billia Croo travel guidance

EMEC's Billia Croo wave test site is located on the west coast of the Orkney mainland. It is a ten-minute drive from the Orkney Research and Innovation Campus in the centre of Stromness.

To find our test site:

- Google Maps: click the link or search for “EMEC Billia Croo Onshore Facility”.
- What3words: click the link or search for `///person.airbrush.suspect`.

Getting there

Please note: There are no public transport links to our site and walking is unadvised.

When driving the Google Maps route above, turn left then you see EMEC's test site sign. You can drive down the road, and will be greeted by members of our team on arrival.

Parking

There is plenty of parking available at the site. The EMEC team can advise on how to park safely and correctly depending on weather conditions.
